ORIGINAL ESSAY WITH CORRECTIONS

I always think about my future job. My dream job is to be a teacher. I love teaching and helping others learn. I believe education is very important for everyone. When I was young, I had a teacher who inspire me. She was kind and patient. She made learning fun. I remember how she helped me with my homework. I want to be like her, to make students happy and excited to learn. Being a teacher is not easy. It need a lot of hard work. Teachers must prepare lessons and grade papers. They also have to manage a classroom. Sometimes, students can be noisy or not pay attention. But I think it is part of the job. I want to create a good environment where students feel safe and want to learn. I also want to teach subjects that I love. My favorite subjects are math and science. I think these subjects are very interesting. I want to show my students how fun they can be. I want them to ask questions and think critically. Encouraging curiosity is very important for me. Another reason I want to be a teache
